TO THE PUBLIC.

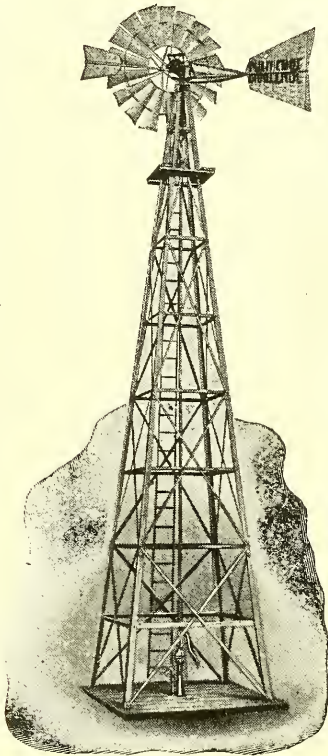

We publish herewith a list of all registrants before the Local Board for Accomac County, Virginia, who were in the Military or Naval Service of the United States for any period of time during the World War. These men entered the service either by induction through the Local Board or by voluntary enlistment in which latter case their entrance into service was certified to the Local Board by the proper military authorities.

We wish to state that this list does not include all men from Accomac County who were in the service. Men who would have registered at some one of the different registrations, but who had entered the service before the date of such registration, were not required to register, because they were already in military or naval service. The names of these men we were unable to get, but our different lists are as complete as we were able to make them and we wish it understood that we just as deeply appreciate the noble work of those men, who voluntarily entered the service and whose names we were unable to obtain, as we do the work of the long list we are publishing.

We herewith submit to you our book, which we have dedicated to the Accomac Boys in the late war and trust that you may find in it sufficient information to cause you to accept it as a memento of your noble boys and that you will not lightly cast it aside but that you will treasure it and pass it down so that the younger generation may see a list of those brave and noble boys, from Accomac County, who helped to bear the burden and aid in bringing to a speedy and successful conclusion the greatest of all World Wars.

WHAT THOS. W. MURPHY, WORLD'S PREMIER REINSMAN, SAYS:

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Mar. 7, 1918.

STALKER MFG. CO., 71-83 West Broadway, New York City.

Gentlemen—I want another supply of your Stalker Breaker Bits, and would like you to send me one dozen of them. I am now using one of your bits on Miss Harris M. (p. 1.58 ¼), as well as on about all the horses I have. I mention her as she will be another one to appear among the champions that I have already used them on. I hope my use of these bits has done you a lot of good. The reason, however, that I keep using them is because they are the best. Wishing you continued success.

Yours very truly,

THOMAS W. MURPHY.

LET US SELL YOU YOUR FARM AND GARDEN SEED.

In all up-to-date localities a properly equipped seed store is now considered indispensable. It is very generally admitted that the seed needs of a community can be taken care of best at the home seed store. The old custom of sending away for seeds is growing less each year and for this reason the home seed store is becoming more firmly a fixture and better able each year to meet the increasing demand for fresh, reliable seeds.

Some of our friends may still cling to the idea that they gain something by sending away for their seeds. All we ask of such is a chance to show that the idea is wrong.

We handle the Leonard Seed Co.'s complete line, and we offer them at the right prices. We are prepared to fill all orders and solicit the trade of the Market Gardener as well as the amateur planter.

IF YOU ARE RUNDOWN TIRED or NERVOUS

If you are recovering from a long period of sickness, or affected with chronic bronchitis, the beginning of tuberculosis or any wasting disease, you need a REAL constructive tonic and tissue builder, in fact you need—

Henry S. Wampole's Palatable Preparation of the Extract of Cod Liver Oil Compound

Made in Baltimore.

You will like the taste of this Palatable Preparation and it will not nauseate the most delicate stomach. All good druggists and merchants sell it.

ALWAYS ASK FOR IT—AND BE SURE YOU GET IT.

THE MAIL ORDER MENACE.

A BIG heavy octopus it is, thrusting its tentacles out to every borough and hamlet of this broad land of ours.

And once its tentacles go out it comes back to the hungry maw bringing with it the life blood of the rural merchant. Nor is the city dealer exempt.

When you buy—buy from your local dealer! See the goods before you pay for them and know that the seller stands behind them for every cent he is worth.

If you bought a can of tomatoes from your grocer bearing the name of a distant packer and later found them to be spoiled, you would not look to the packer to make adjustment, you would go to the grocer from whom you bought the goods, and he would do the proper thing—he does it every day. He's a part of your community. He can't afford to be deceptive. He isn't a thousand miles away. He must face your criticisms.

Every dollar you spend at home circulates and profits every man who comes in contact with it. Every dollar you send to the mail order houses means a loss to you and your townsmen. It's gone.

The mail order man pays no taxes to your community. He does not contribute to your schools, hospitals, churches, your orphan asylums or anything which makes for the upkeep or betterment of your community. He's a parasite, and he's getting bigger every year.

Another species of this vampire is the wagon man who drives about from door to door peddling shoddy foodstuffs through the lure of a still more shoddy premium. He conducts a business for which he pays no license nor does he contribute anything to the general welfare; yet he uses your roads and all your facilities and has the protection of your laws.

When You Buy, Buy From Your Local Dealers.

Citizenship and patriotism consist of something more than voting, paying taxes and cheering the flag. In case of war could you respect a neighbor who deserted your flag, joined the enemy and fought against the country which has given him freedom, opportunity and happiness.

You can't afford to desert the community in which you live, from which you get your living. The welfare of your home community should be your first thought, because you rise or fall with it.

Don't be a traitor—when you buy, buy from your local merchant. The unexpected "rainy day" comes along. The mail order houses in the distant city have taken your money in days of prosperity but will they help you now?

Somehow that big hand that reached out from everywhere has suddenly shrunk and gone. Those nice letters which always had the same magic words—buy! buy! buy! have suddenly ceased to interest you because you have no money to send away.

But Old Jim Smith, the corner grocer, hails you as you go dispiritedly by. Jim knows you're good for credit, even though you're out of work. He knows you'll pay. You tell him the hard luck story and Jim opens his heart and takes you in. He carries you and your family along until the skies are blue and all is well.

And now when you buy, YOU BUY AT HOME.

THE AMERICAN LEGION IN ACCOMAC.

The relaxation from the strain occasioned by the great struggle for democracy and the sake of humanity failed, even for a moment, to arrest the activity of the American versatility of brain, for hardly had the Armistice, which brought to a close the bloody and sacrificial combat, been signed ere the idea for an organization for a continuance of the close relationship and comradeship that had existed throughout the War had been formulated. This idea developed into a reality on November 11, 1919, at Minneapolis, Minn., when the American Legion was officially organized.

The same spirit which pervaded the United States Army when taken from their firesides, and transported to a strange and foreign soil and caused them to carry Old Glory to the front and to victory, was also in evidence in the organization of the American Legion. The same motto: "For God and Country" and "100% Americanism", is the basic spirit that brought such hoped for, but scarcely conceived, success to our Army in France, and it should be equally successful in the development of the American Legion. This motto is sufficiently explanatory of what the American Legion is designed to be, and it is the duty of every son of America's soil, who participated in the War and who is eligible, to join the ranks of the American Legion and carry Old Glory forward as honorably and as gloriously in time of peace. It should be considered a privilege and an honor to be numbered among the ranks of the American Legion, and one can be assured that wherever in our beloved land destiny may direct the footsteps of a Legionnaire, there he will find a friend and a brother, a comradeship born of hardships and danger, fostered amid the mud of the trenches mingled with the blood of "pals", and a friendship that will last as long as the lives of the members and will be continued as a memorial by posterity.

The fact seems well established now that the American Legion will be a factor in the future destiny of our Nation. The principles on which it has been organized must survive and must obtain. It is not intended, nor will it ever be permitted, to be partisan, unless the ones higher up are untrue to their fellows and themselves and the principles for which it has been organized are cast to the winds; in which event it must utterly fail.

Discipline, team work, cooperation—the essential attributes of a successful army—must control the organization effectively to develop. As each man in an army, from the lowest private to the commanding general, has a duty to perform and "his bit" to do, so should every man, and woman, too, who honorably served their country in the crisis, put his or her shoulder to the wheel and "push" with the same eagerness and the same loyalty as when the cannon were belching forth their fire and steel of destruction. Without this cooperating success can be assured but partially and it is not the nature of the American to fail. Let's get together at home and be ready for the conflict when our services are needed, and stick together closely, so that when called upon to fight any enemy, political or otherwise, which might molest the security of our homes or our Government, it can be said by those in distress "Thank God, the American Legion comes". And let us be there to relieve them.

The Accomac Post No. 60, has a charter, but it is a matter of regret that the right interest has not been displayed by the Service boys from this County. Doubtless it is largely due to the fact that the importance of the organization has not been properly brought to them. Because of lack of cooperation nothing is being done. You know that one man can't do it all and should feel it is as much your duty as the other fellow's, so let's get together and have an organization in this County that will reflect credit to it. The dues are comparatively nothing and the only thing necessary to have a Post in this County that will be a success is to put your shoulder to the wheel and do your part yourself—don't put it off on the other fellow; it is not "Americanism" and it is not "Accomac Countyism". Join yourself, and see your "buddy" and get him to join, and we'll all be better off by it, feel better and will have our "family" scattered all over the Country, and we'll always be "at home" anywhere.

The undersigned will be pleased to give information to any one and furnish application cards for membership to all applicants.

THE DRAFT BOARD IN ACCOMAC.

In April, 1917, with tension at its height, every eye eagerly scanning the papers, every ear eagerly acute, the looked for summons came—War with Germany was declared—and with it came the stupendous task of raising an Army, taking America's sons from the store, from the farm, from the Bar, from the schools—from every profession and walk of life, to put a gun in their hands and send them to a foreign land to battle for RIGHT. It was not an easy task, and how to perform it without crippling the great interests on which the United States must depend, and with the additional duty of augmenting those resources for the benefit of the countries that had been already engaged in the mighty struggle, was a problem that confronted the administrators at Washington. That the most useful in some pursuits should be retained at home, that the best fighting material might be sent to bear the brunt of the actual warfare, that the most physically able might be selected for the intensive training, involving that to which only the participants are competent to testify, Draft Boards—Local and District Boards—were organized, and to them was entrusted the task of selecting those "fit for service"; these had to be classified into four classes; questionnaires were filled out and the exemptions claimed were passed upon; not an easy task at best, and one that would necessarily involve dissatisfaction, criticism, and such; nevertheless, one which had to be performed. Examinations and reexaminations were had, classifications and reclassifications; until eventually the machinery began grinding out an Army which reflects credit to those entrusted to the care of selecting it.

The Local Board of Accomack County consisted of B. T. Melson, Chairman, John D. Grant, Jr., and Dr. John H. Ayres, all of Accomac, Va. These gentlemen did their duty fearlessly, conscientiously and well, and due credit should be given them for the excellent representation sent from this County.

Assisting the Board were:

Dr. J. L. DeCormis,	} Medical Examiners
Dr. W. F. Kellam,
Dr. John W. Robertson,
Dr. S. S. Kellam,
Dr. W. M. Burwell,
Dr. B. W. Mears.

and

Dr. Seymour P. Ward,	} Medical Advisory Board
Dr. George L. Fosque,
Dr. O. R. Fletcher,
Dr. Rooker J. White,
Dr. George T. Sledge,

Samuel J. Ross, Chief Clerk.

Accomac County's representation in the World War was about 1200; the exact figures not being at hand, owing to the large number of volunteers whose names have not all been ascertained. This number clearly shows the magnitude of the work the Board was called upon to perform. 1097 men were sent to Camp as physically fit, and but a very small number were rejected after having been passed by the Local Board, which bespeaks the efficient service rendered.

THE EASTERN SHORE OF VIRGINIA CHAPTER AMERICAN RED CROSS.

BY FRANCES L. TAYLOR.

On June 1st, 1917, a meeting was held in the town hall, Onancock, to formulate plans for the organization of the Eastern Shore of Virginia Chapter American Red Cross.

The following officers were elected:
 Chairman, Mrs. J. S. Waples
 Vice-Chairman, Mrs. J. S. Tyler
 Secretary, Mrs. J. P. L. Hopkins
 Treasurer, G. H. Powell.

Executive Committee—Mrs. W. H. Parker, Mrs. J. S. Mills, Mrs. E. D. F. Custis, Mrs. M. M. White, Mrs. George Borum, Mrs. Bessie Hopkins, Mrs. J. W. Robertson, Misses Frances and Constance Taylor and J. L. Parker.

Soon the different towns on the Shore began to enroll, as branches, and by November, the number had reached twenty-one nearly every town in the county being represented. The total enrollment for the chapter and branches was 3820.

As new phases of the work developed, the following committees were appointed:

Publicity—Miss Frances L. Taylor.

School Committee—Miss Constance S. Taylor, Chairman, Miss Frances L. Taylor, Treasurer.

Home Service—Dr. J. W. Robertson, Chairman, May 1918—Oct. 1918.
 Mr. R. T. Hearn, Oct. 1918 to the present.

War Drive—Stewart K. Powell, Chairman; J. S. Waples, Treasurer.

Christmas Roll Call—Rev. F. A. Ridout, Chairman; Warner Ames, Vice-Chairman.

In June 1918, Mrs. Taylor declined re-election as vice-chairman and Mrs. J. S. Mills was selected. Both of these ladies entered heart and soul into the work, as is proven by the large amount of work accomplished. Valuable work has been done by Dr. John W. Robertson and Mr. H. R. Hearn in the Home Service Section. Over a thousand hearts have been brightened by the self sacrificing efforts of the above named gentlemen.

Accomac was one of the first counties in the Potomac Division to organize a Junior Red Cross. Thirty-three of the forty schools in the county, organized auxiliaries, the membership being 3300. Two thousand dollars was contributed to the Child Welfare Fund, many refugee garments were made also comfort-kits, scrap books, shot bags, etc.

Miss Constance Taylor was chosen out of fifteen, from the Potomac Division, to consider plans for the peace program. She was very proud when the announcement was made that the Accomac Juniors had raised more money, per school population, than any other county in the Division. The principal work of the Juniors, during the session of 1919-20, was sending goodies to the shell-shocked patients in the Hampton hospital.

That the Accomac people were alive to their duty, both to the soldiers and suffering humanity, is manifest, for $25,000 was raised by the Chapter and its branches. The people of Accomac and Northampton counties gave $2500. to buy an ambulance to be used in France.

The merchants of Accomac County, Virginia, offer to the people of the county shopping facilities unequalled by any town in the State of Virginia and by a few of the larger cities. We could give numerous reasons why you should trade with these merchants and keep your money at home instead of sending it to the so-called mail order houses of the United States.

Suppose you are a farmer in the outlying districts, you need merchandise sold by the home merchants and you are ready to buy. Our merchants have a full and complete line of the goods you need and at just as low prices as the mail order houses. You can call at the different stores and see their line and when you pay your money you know just exactly what you are getting and if, when you get home, you find that the goods are not perfectly satisfactory in every particular you can take them back and change them or get your money back at once. You buy from the home merchant and pay him your money and he takes it, pays his bills and uses his profits to pay taxes, through which he helps to keep up your county roads, helps to pay the county officials and make it possible to have the larger towns. When next you come to town with a quantity of produce the home merchants give a part of the money you spent with them back to you in payment for the goods you have to sell.

Now on the other hand the mail order houses will send you flaming posters and catalogues setting forth a large number of reasons why you should send them your money for th's merchandise you are going to buy, and giving prices that on the face look extremely low. Now let us consider for a moment. You order from these people, you wait for a week to ten days and then get a postal card saying your order has been received and goods will be shipped in a few days. In about ten days more you receive an express package which you cannot open until you have paid the agent and signed a receipt. You have now waited about three weeks and when you get the package home you find about two-thirds of the goods are m's-fits and the remainder do not come up to the advertisement. You return them and pay additional express charges and are later notified that others will be shipped at once. Wait about ten days more and the package again comes and you pay more express charges. If you then decide to keep the goods the transaction is at an end. If they are not satisfactory then you again return and ask for a return of your money, which they are very loth to do, but after a number of letters have been exchanged and you have waited a month more you get a check for the amount. You have your money back and have spent three times the money in express charges that would have bought the goods from your home merchants. In buying consider postage, expressage and other incidentals. Consider that of the money you send ~~these houses~~ not one cent, either directly or indirectly, returns to you and we feel sure you will be convinced that money spent at home is money well invested. WITH OUR BOYS OVERSEAS.

BY ONE OF THEM.

I spent twelve months in crossing Flanders Field and France, I saw the devastation created by the Hun. I saw our men as they marched through England and over the fields of France and Belgium. The Hun had trained his men for the world conflict he had prepared for. The men of ours were taken from the peaceful pursuits of everyday life. Our men had the blood of many nations flowing through their veins. The Hun blood was the same that had come down for hundreds of years, unchanged in its ways and brutal treatment. I followed the victorious army over the fields of Chateau Thierry; I was in dugouts that were occupied by the Hun and found there the intimate garments of women. They had not been satisfied with the leveling of homes and making bare the earth of peace—not with the blood of Huns coursing in their veins; and they knew nothing of virtue, nor womanhood; nor the graces of civilization that the other nations were battling for.

Too much cannot be said of the American soldier of many bloods, they had come to the front ready to do or die for the saving of the world. It was the flower of American manhood, and not just the ordinary class of men who went. It was the man of education, the aristocrat if you please, the minister of the gospel of every creed, and men of all walks of life who had taken arms for the safety of the world.

I believed and still believe, that we got in at a late hour. I do not know that we would have been in it at all had not it been for that great man whom the world was called upon to mourn some months ago, whose vision outreached that of all other Americans, and whose sterling Americanism awakened the country to a realization of the impending fate should the Hun win his battles.

Unless you were in France you could not realize the extent of human suffering can throw a nation in grief.

One day a woman of about sixty years or more came to the little French town in which my company was billeted. She was on her way she knew not where. As she entered the village over muddy and rocky roads, every American soldier stopped and gazed at her. She was old and wrinkled, ragged and dirty, her feet were bare and bleeding, and as she trudged on she mumbled while poking her stick at loose stones and swinging a dirty cloth bag in which was contained all her earthly belongings. I have traveled all of America; in Mexico, and all of Europe, but I have never beheld a sight which so gript my heart and weighed down my soul as the plight of this wretched human being.

She stopped at the little village store for a rest and a charity drink of the "vin rouge" the national drink, the soldiers gathered about her in wonderment and pity and several of us who managed to speak a little French engaged her in conversation.

You may have seen miserables homes in America, you may have heard pitiful tales of domestic misfortune, you may have wiped your eyes at touching scenes on the stage, but never could you in the wildest flight of imagination conceive of a scene like this.

Before the war this woman, whose features still showed traces of refinement and beauty had lived near the border of France and Germany. She was the mother in a happy family consisting of a providing father, a daughter, and two sons. When the Huns came with their lust for blood, the candle of happiness in this home was blown out.

The Huns captured the town, seized the food, mistreated the old and the young, subjecting the daughter in this once happy home to the most vulgar and inhuman indecencies. The husband and father was shot when he endeavored in a feeble way to protect his daughter. The lustful "Hun" drove him mad, said the old woman, but he was no match for the Uhlan. With one hand on his throat the Uhlan held him in a corner while with his other fist he beat him into insensibility.

"Like a wild woman I shrieked and scratched and scratched with my finger nails at the eyes of the intruder" she yelled in French, while enacting the scene before us; "but I could do nothing with him. My daughter was in a half-conscious state, limp and helpless."

Next she said more soldiers entered the house and dragged the half dead man from the floor to the street, where with a score of other older citizens he was shot and killed.

The battle raged for days around the village, and with her daughter the old woman became a refugee, fleeing with what few things they could carry in a bag.

From one village to another they fled, until the girl, exhausted and suffering from her ill-treatment, died one night upon the roadside. The mother learned at the same time that one of her sons had been killed in action. Where the other one was she did not know.

Crazed with grief, this poor woman began to wander like a lost soul, going here and there without object or aim. For four years she had walked over the hills of France that still remain untouched by shell and shrapnel. For four years she had waited for the hand of God to avenge her suffering, her story was at an end, and it is no reflection on the strength or bravery of the American boys there to say that there was not a dry eye among those who heard her story. The old woman had collapsed and sat sobbing on the platform leading to the little store.

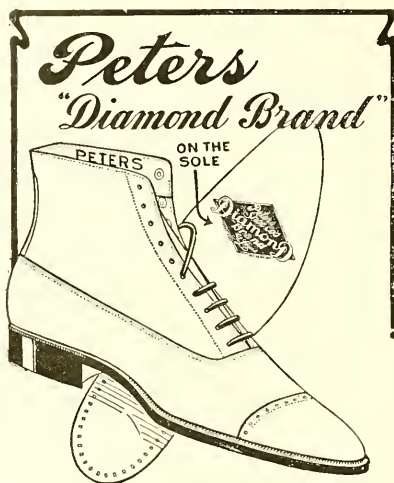

Suddenly she arose, raised her hands towards the heavens and her broken voice rang out in the stirring strains of "THE MARSEILLAISE" she still believed in her country, that France would be victorious, and live, and that somewhere there was a just God who would avenge the wrong done her. She knew and every soldier about her knew there could be but one outcome, and every soldier who heard her story was a better soldier and man for having heard her.

We took up a collection bought her shoes and clothes and wanted her to stay, but she would not. She said she must be on her way. There was still another boy waiting for her somewhere. She had to find him and she trudged on, poor, bleeding soul, over more rocky roads and muddy hills. This and more was the spirit of the women of FRANCE.

Chateau Thierry; long will I remember. I had been living in ease and comfort in London for about three weeks wondering if we had not been forgotten and thinking that we might be some of the many that fought some of the battles of PARIS and LONDON and other places of the S. O. S. However, we soon found that we had not been left in the rear, along came a P. D. Q. for FRANCE, and off we went Southampton, then Cherbourg, then Bordeaux, here we received orders to join the 26th Yankee Division and three days later found us entering the lines. Oh: how I remember this, it was warm yet, I was cold and shaking, the Star shells, flares, etc., seemed to light the universe. Morning found us in the lines and up against the Kaisers most dependable divisions the 200 Jaegers and the 216 Reserve Division. The orders of attack came and we mixed at close range. Oh, how the yanks did yell and shout, we knew we had them. A few days of this and then the salient of Chateau Thierry was free. A dazed Prussian Officer taken prisoner said "How did you do it" We are storm troops. Storm Hell: said a yank I come from Kansas where he have cyclones.

Until now Marshall Foch had thought the Americans were not yet trained. General Pershing had told him they would go and make good. They made good the word of their chief. Next we met Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria's troops in Flanders: Then to St. Mihiel. This salient was a huge bulge twenty miles in depth from the village of Combred to the north base at Hattonsville and making a half circle around St. Mihiel and the village of Ailly and had been held for four years by the enemy. This attack so surprised the enemy with its rapidity and energy that they fled with only a small rear guard resistance.

For our boys I heard nothing but words of praise, one officer told me this "I believe that an Eastern Shoreman could go through Hell and never get scorched" they had nerves of steel and were never known to say "It can't be done."

Crescent Disc Harrows

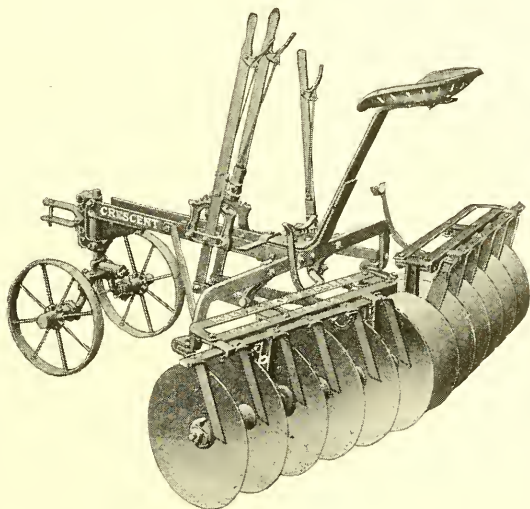

CRESCENT DISC HARROWS are made with 16" and 18" disc from 8 to 14 discs to a harrow.

The scrapers are of steel and of the oscillating pattern, so that they clean the disc from the center to the circumference. They return to the center of the disc automatically and the foot lever which actuates them is provided with a stop which makes it impossible for the scraper to pass over the edge of the disc.

The gang frames are of extra heavy steel that will not twist or bend in heavy work, or when stumps or other obstructions are encountered.

The center lever of the Crescent Disc Harrow is a feature that makes the Crescent line of disc harrows superior to all other makes.

With this center lever, the operator can instantly lock the inner ends of gangs down and insure positive penetration, no matter how hard the ground.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.

While we feel that every Soldier, Sailor and Civilian, of Accomac County, is deserving of praise for the part they took and the efforts they put forth to aid their country in its time of need, yet there are always some special deeds or examples of sacrifice that stand out in bold relief against the horizon of every community's efforts along any particular line. For this reason we feel that the records of Rev. Frank A. Ridout and Miss Sarah Waples Crosley are deserving of special mention in our "History of Accomac County in the War."

FRANK A. RIDOUT.

Before coming to Onancock as rector of Holy Trinity Church, Frank A. Ridout offered his services to the War Department as a Chaplain, but being over forty years of age, he was declared ineligible.

The spirit of patriotism continued to whisper to him until, in April 1918, the vestries of Holy Trinity Church, Onancock, and historic St. Georges, Pungoteague, granted him a leave of absence of seven months to do Y. M. C. A. work in France.

It would be hard to find a man with a personality better suited to the work and the congregations were glad to be able to send such a man as their personal representative. Mr. Ridout had charge of the Y. M. C. A. activities for the Seventh Division. He was badly wounded on the head by a falling beam and was also shell-shocked.

Since returning to the county he has been far from strong, but feeling that his health was sacrificed in a good cause, he never complains.

MISS SARAH WAPLES CROSLY.

As soon as Belgium was invaded by the Germans, Miss Sarah Waples Crosley, of Savageville, Accomac County, offered her services to the American Red Cross and sailed with the first contingent that left this country in September 1914. After working in a hospital in France, for several months, she was sent to Belgium, where she remained until the last Red Cross unit was withdrawn. Her next post was at Un Crout.

When America entered the war, she was placed in charge of a large Red Cross Hospital in Paris, remaining there until the armistice was signed.

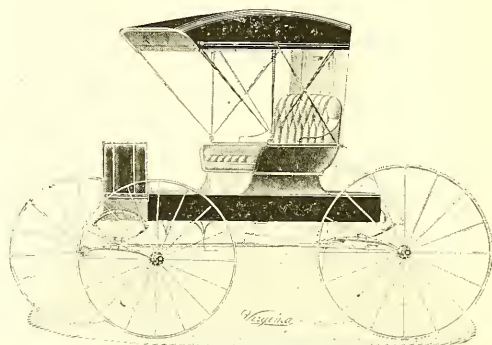

Miss Crosley expected to return to America but answered the call of the Near East, stating that duty lies where suffering humanity calls. En route she worked in Italy for a few months. On her way from Italy to Montenegro, she was robbed of all her possessions, including all papers, and was under surveillance until duplicates could be procured from Washington. She describes her experiences, on that journey, as trying and dangerous beyond belief.

Since going to the Near East, Miss Crosley has worked in Montenegro, Albania, Turkey, Serbia and Armenia. She was ordered to Siberia but our troops were withdrawn before she could make the journey.

Miss Crosley was decorated with the Croix-de-Guerre, by France, and the Cross of Mercy, by Serbia. Accomac is proud of her work not only in the field of honor but also in the field of mercy.

PERSONAL REMINISCENCIES.

BY W. W. SAVAGE.

My military experience started in 1907 at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, from which college I graduated in 1912. In 1915 Battery "D", 1st Virginia Field Artillery was organized at Hampton, Virginia. I joined as a charter member and was appointed corporal, which grade I held while in that organization. We were called out for Mexican border duty June 18, 1916. A few days later we went to Camp Stuart, Richmond, where we camped until September. We then went to San Antonio, Texas, and were there at Camp Wilson until March 1917, spending November at target practice on the Leon Springs reservation. In March 1917 we were back at Hampton, Virginia and mustered out of the federal service.

On April 2, 1917 we were called out again, this time for service in the war with Germany. Our first duty was in guarding Hampton Roads and the Newport News shipyard until August. We were then stationed at Camp McClellan, Anniston, Alabama for several months.

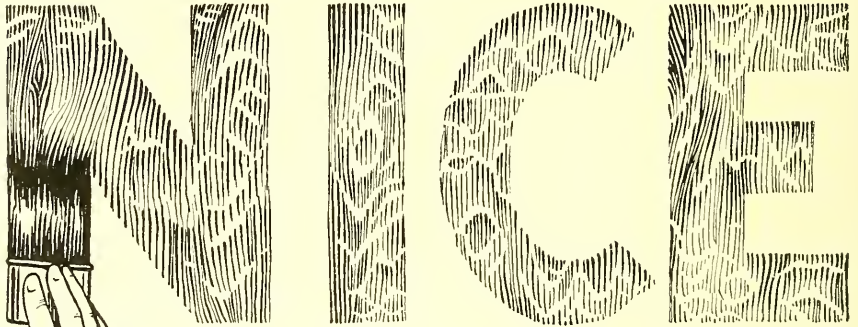

While stationed at Newport News in July 1917 I took an examination at Fort Monroe for a commission as Provisional Second Lieutenant, Coast Artillery Corps, regular army. In November of that year I received the commission, dated October 24, 1917, was relieved from duty with Battery D at Anniston, Alabama and went to Fort Monroe, Virginia for four months in the Officers' Training Camp.

While at Fort Monroe I received the commission as Provisional First Lieutenant, Coast Artillery Corps, regular army, dated back to October 24, 1917. Was stationed at Fort Terry, New York from April to August 1918. On June 1st the 68th Artillery (CAC) was organized for duty overseas, and I was happy to be with that wonderful regiment of picked men, each one of whom had to meet ten requirements, one of which was a direct answer that he wanted to go overseas and fight Germany.

On June 4th I received another commission dated back to March 28, 1918, appointing me temporarily a Captain in the Coast Artillery Corps, regular army, which rank I held until leaving the service in August 1919.

On August 8, 1918 our Regiment went by train from New London, Conn. to Boston and sailed the next day. After avoiding submarines for two days we put back into New York harbor at night and sailed out again next day in a convoy of 7 ships and escort. North of the Straits of Belle Isle we joined a Canadian convoy of 7 ships and escort. Our convoy was then made up of 14 transports, 7 loaded with American soldiers and 7 with Canadian. Under the British flag we had most wonderful protection until we landed at Tilbury Docks, London two weeks after leaving New York. It was quite a long voyage but very interesting up among the big, cold icebergs, and also in the English Channel, and we had a wonderful band which played several hours each day.

We entered London at 10 o'clock on a Saturday night, when the thousands of big searchlights played, and every whistle, horn, bell and voice in London sounded to greet us. On Sunday morning we went ashore and took the train to Romsey (near Southampton). In passing through London the people went wild to greet us. Little children in the back yards ran towards our train so fast that at least a third of them fell down. The women were especially noisy in greeting us, and frantically waved whatever happened to be in their hands.

After camping three days at Romsey we crossed the English Channel from Southampton to La Havre at night in steamers which were formerly in service on Long Island Sound. The French people at La Havre greeted us quietly, seriously and with as much formality as if we had been the first American soldiers to enter that port. We camped only a few days at La Havre and then went to Vayres, which is a small town about fifteen miles east of Bordeaux. Here our Regiment was stationed for intensive training, and was equipped as fast as the guns, tractors, etc. could be supplied to us. We were scheduled to go to the front on December 15th, but that was too late.

In early December, when the Regiment was ordered home to the United States, all of us regular army officers were ordered out of the Regiment to remain in Europe. There were 21 of us, and were sent to Camp Hunt at the little village of Le Courneau, southwest of Bordeaux to be assigned to duty.

I was assigned to the Officer Prisoner of War Enclosure at Richelieu, about 40 miles southwest of Tours, and arrived there a few days before Christmas. I was made Prison Supply Officer and Assistant Prison Officer. Here we had about 900 German and Austrian Officers prisoners of war and about 600 enlisted prisoners of war. One of the German officer prisoners I found to be intelligent, well educated, well informed, truthful and a pretty fine man. He had served on the French, Serbian and Roumanian fronts, and was captured at Chateau Thierry by the Americans. He and one of the enlisted Germans, who was also truthful, described to me the very fierce battle at Chateau Thierry, in which Lieutenant Vernon Somers of Bloxom, Virginia was killed. Having known Vernon Somers, both at home and at college, and having heard the Germans' true story of the battle, confirming the American story. I am confident that while the battle was on a short front, that there was never in any war any battle in which men fought harder than at Chateau Thierry, and that the American offensive at that point could not have been at all what it was without Vernon Somers and other officers like him—great officers, doing the greatest work that America ever had men to do. He went into the battle to win and die, for he knew, as each of his comrades immediately with him, and each of the Germans immediately confronting him, that it was the supreme sacrifice for each and every one. He did not know how many others would have to come up and also pay the supreme sacrifice without a chance to live.

The pick of the German army was at Chateau Thierry, and in great numbers, well prepared and ready to start an offensive that would mean defeat for the American army, and would hurt its morale once and forever, as well as to injure the morale of all the allies. Then the Americans decided: "No, we will 'beat them to it', we will start the offensive one hour sooner, we will give our lives to break the German resistance and determination. There is only one message for the Germans, and it must be now. We are here to do the trick, and we will do it". And they did.

Accomac County does not realize what a great part was played by Vernon Somers at Chateau Thierry, and the world does not realize what a great part the victory at Chateau Thierry played in ending the war. It was not a decisive battle to the extent of showing Germany that she was defeated, but it was decisive in showing that Americans could lick the Germans and would lick them.

Accomac County had good soldiers in the war and is proud of us. We are proud of our county, and none the less so because it has produced such

They will stand the test. However hard you are to please—however critical your tastes—however exacting your demands, we are positively certain we can give you complete clothes satisfaction.

It makes no difference if you are irregular in figure—a little overweight—a little too tall or too short—you can be fitted here.

There are styles and models for young and old, in a variety of the newest novelties as well as the staple patterns.

Isaac Harris Sons, Philadelphia, Clothes for men and young men.

These suits give you more value in fabrics, in trimmings, in workmanship, in finish than the average suit made in the average way could ever hope to equal—or even hope to ap-

So diverse, so tempting is the array of garments we have assembled at these prices that we abandon hope of doing justice to them in this advertisement. We content ourselves with saying that, no matter what color, pattern, weave, weight or model you prefer, it is here. Sold exclusively by a soldier as Lieutenant Somers. Every man should consider it an honor to have served in the army with him.

I was in the heavy artillery, because it was most interesting work and the branch of service in which my training in mathematics and engineering was worth more. However, we were a long time in getting our equipment, which was expensive and required a long time for manufacture, so the armistice was signed a month before the time set for us to go to the front, and we were disappointed in not getting there.

I felt fortunate in being assigned to duty at the Officer Prisoner of War Enclosure, because there I had an opportunity to learn more about the enemy countries and the war from their viewpoint during the six months after the armistice, than almost any other American.

I landed in New York on July 5, 1919, and my resignation as Captain in the army was accepted August 2, 1919, so that I could again take up my work in electrical engineering in civil life. I liked the army pretty well, am keeping my uniform, and when the next war starts it will not take me long to change my clothes.

THE GLORY AND REWARD

SUPREME SACRIFICE.

When, more than a thousand of America's best men, women and children, were sent to the bottom of the Ocean by an illegal and dastardly act—the sinking of the Lusitania—the whole American people sprang to arms. Delayed for a while, the impulse to resent and restrain such barbarism could not be entirely repressed.

When the call to War came, it was not, as formerly, for men of developed muscles, training and experience; literally it was for young men, only, 19 to 31 years of age; actually, it was from 15 to 31. Never was so young an army gathered for the supreme sacrifice.

Ever since the growth of christian civilization began, youth has been developing its proper place in the mass of maintained, once, mere slaves of its parents, who held the pawn of life and death over them, they perished in myriads, from cruelty and neglect. A new standard has arisen: "Science, organization, industry and the consciousness of human unity, have knit together the social whole." The young have now, not only rights, but the peculiar love and care of the whole people. We would realize this, if we would watch any morning, everywhere, the troops of "Mother's Darlings" on their way to school; the noble school houses and colleges erected for their advancement; the banishment of torture and cruel punishments and the humanity of the new laws; which protect women and children; we could see that the child, the young people, once weak, tearful, helpless, by reason of this former tendency, are now fit objects for tenderest affection, profoundest knowledge and are the richest, happiest and most hopeful of the race.

So when, as in Rome, the great pool opened, that could not be filled except by the sacrifice of Rome's best Curtins, the noblest Roman of them all leaped in full armed, on horseback. This forever closed the pool. So, when our gulf opened in the Great World War, the young men of America closed it, by making for us and all the future, the supreme sacrifice of their precious lives and of their potential possibilities, to them and to us.

At the call, the boys of Accomac County and all Virginia, responded at once, to a man; volunteers or through the fruits of the selective draft, which took the best, most capable and efficient of our young men and left the residue. They went wherever ordered, displayed indomitable courage and all the best qualities of the soldier, everywhere.

Of these boys, a few died of disease and a larger number upon the battlefield. In all, 28 gave their lives for their country and not one brought disgrace upon his state, county or city. The stars of Heaven shed upon the sod that covers their patriotic graves, no lights, brighter than is the luster of their fame and sacred memories, remaining in our hearts. Accomac and Virginia shall love them, still grieve for their loss and are proud of their career. Let no one, of us all, withhold his tribute to their patriotic memory.

ASTONISHING ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY

In All Kinds of Cooking!

The performance of the "Red Star" will astonish you. You will be surprised at the intense heat generated and the low fuel consumption of the "Red Star."

RED STAR
Detroit Vapor Oil Stove

The "Red Star" is different from ordinary oil stoves. It is really a gas stove because it produces its own gas from the cheapest grades of kerosene, gasoline or distillate. This is possible because the vaporizes all of the heat units of the fuel and generates its own gas.

The "Red Star" is the first and only stove to use cheap oils without wicks or asbestos rings.

Ask for a demonstration. You will be quick to recognize its unusual qualities and why it is conceded to be the most efficient and economical oil range to be had. It costs you nothing to learn all about this wonderful stove.

THE PREVENTIVE treatment of Hog Cholera with Cal-Sino Hog Restorative Powder is easier, safer and more satisfactory than trying to cure the disease itself after it attacks your hogs for all too often sudden violent attacks occur which leave no time for treatment and so always cause speedy death.

A warm spell of weather is apt to bring an outbreak of Cholera at any time. To insure against loss and to get the most weight it pays to give a regular course of Cal-Sino. It costs only about 10c to 20c per hog per month, depending upon size, to fortify against disease and to make them fleshier, for Cal-Sino helps to get all the real body-building flesh-making material out of the food—and that's what counts.

If you once try it, you'll use it always. Ask your neighbors and the dealers. Don't put it off—delay may cause you loss.

MR. WILBUR S. JENNINGS,
Brownsville, Md., writes:—

"We lost 22 out of 26 hogs before we started to use Cal-Sino Hog Restorative, and we have the 4 yet. I am quite sure we would have lost them all if we had not fed Cal-Sino; so it just saved us $60 to $70, and it would have saved at least $200.00 for us if we could have had it in time."

Nu-Way Strech Suspenders,
 I'm telling you are slick!
 It's the spiral Phosphor Bronze Spring,
 That "Does the Nu-Way trick."
 My, they're such a solid comfort!
 You twist and turn at will,
 But the stretch in that "U" spiral,
 You simply "cannot kill."

Say, there isn't any rubber,
 To give and crack and tear;
 So they last you three times longer
 Than any other pair,
 There is wear and stretch and comfort,
 In rubberless Nu-Ways,
 That you never dared to dream of,
 In old Elastic days.

And there's NuWay Strech Supporters
 For everybody's hose,
 On all children's, men's and women's,
 That little Bronze Spring goes.
 With them housewives are delighted.
 For buttons keep their place,
 And of rip and tear in hose-tops,
 There isn't any trace.

"No elastic to rot and sweat, triple service in each pair you get."

AN EXAMPLE OF MAIL-ORDER DEALING.

A Mean Man.

Down in Oklahoma the other day a man went into a store to buy a saw. He saw the kind he wanted and asked the price. It was $1.65 the dealer said.

"Good gracious," said the man, "I can get the same thing from Sears-Roebuck & Co. for $1.35."

"That's less than it cost me," said the dealer, "but I'll sell it on the same terms as the mail-order house just the same."

"All right," said the customer. "You can send it along and charge it to my account."

"Not on your life," the dealer replied. "No charge accounts. You can't do business with the mail-order house that way. Fork over the cash."

The customer handed over the cash.

"Now 2 cents for postage and 5 cents for money order."

"What —"

"Certainly you have to send a letter and a money order to mail-order house, you know."

The customer, inwardly raving, kept to his agreement and paid the nickel.

"Now 25 cents expressage."

"Well, I'll be —", he said, but paid it saying: "Now hand me that saw and I'll take it home for myself and be rid of this foolery."

"Hand it to you? Where do you think you are? You're in Oklahoma, and I'm in Chicago, and you'll have to wait two weeks for that saw."

Whereupon he hung the saw on a peg and put the money in his cash drawer.

"That makes $1.67," he said. "It has cost you 2 cents more and taken two weeks longer to get it than if you had paid my price in the first place."
